

Dissertation Checklist

Title Page	<input type="checkbox"/> Check that the title page includes all the required information from your university.
Abstract	<input type="checkbox"/> Make sure the abstract provides a concise summary of the dissertation, giving the reader a clear idea of your key results or arguments.

Introduction

- Ensure that the introduction clearly and concisely outlines the purpose and scope of the dissertation
- Make sure that you have provided adequate background information to contextualize your research
- Check that your research questions and hypotheses are clearly stated

Literature Review

- Check that you have conducted a comprehensive literature review
- Ensure that your literature review is well-structured and logically presented
- Check that your literature review is well-integrated with the rest of your dissertation

Methodology

- Ensure you have clearly described the methodology used in your research
- Check that your methodology is appropriate for your research questions and hypotheses
- Ensure that you have explained any limitations or weaknesses of your methodology

Results

- Check that your results are presented clearly and logically
- Ensure that you have provided adequate statistical analyses to support your findings
- Check that your results are well-integrated with the rest of your dissertation

Discussion

- Make sure that your discussion is well-structured and logically presented
- Ensure that you have provided a critical analysis of your results
- Check that you have addressed any limitations or weaknesses of your research

References

- Check that you have provided a comprehensive list of references
- Ensure that your references are formatted correctly and consistently

Proofreading

- Proofread your dissertation thoroughly to eliminate any errors in spelling, grammar, or punctuation
- Ensure that your writing is clear and concise
- Check that you have used appropriate terminology and language

Appendices

- Check that your appendices are labeled and formatted correctly
- Ensure that your appendices are well-organized and logically presented

Feedback

- Seek feedback from your advisor or other faculty members to ensure that your dissertation is of high quality
- Incorporate any feedback or suggestions into your dissertation

Submission

- Make sure that you have followed all the guidelines for submitting your dissertation
- Check that you have submitted all the required materials, including any supplementary files or forms